

BIG TIME IN BOLIVIA

Carnival time is an institution throughout Latin America, but at a town high in the Bolivian Andes it takes a special twist for a special purpose. Tin miners of Oruro, 13,000-foot high mountain town, annually seek to "scare the wits out of the devil," thereby, they hope, driving bad luck and evil spirits from the hazardous mining shafts for the coming year. Costumes can be lavish, as for the "devil dancer" at left and the cycling bear, center. At right, cars laden with silver vessels, frequently rented, move through Oruro's winding streets on the last day of carnival to the church, where the silver is offered symbolically to the "Virgin of the Mining Tunnel."

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

Mrs. Richard Guy Arnold

The wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Guy Arnold was an event of Saturday evening, April 16, at the First Methodist Church in Prescott with Rev. Osborne White officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, Miss Mary Frances Harrison, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin Harrison of Prescott. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bryan Arnold of Hope.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Dudley A. Gordo and the organ. She also accompanied Tom Watson White, who sang, "I Love You Truly," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer."

A central arrangement of mums, specimen gladioli, and wrought iron candelabra holding white tapers was used in decorating the church. On the chancel rail were tree candelabras holding burning white tapers, completed by arrangements of white mums, gladioli, jade and emerald foliage. Candles were lighted by James Oleney Nixon of Crossett and Charles Alfred Culpepper of Helena.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a birdal gown of candelight peau de soie with elbow length sleeves and fitted bodice. The flat front skirt was overlaid with lace traced with tiny seed pearls. A sweeping chapel train fell from a full blown rose at the back waist. A double crown of pearls and iridescent crystals held the tiered birdal veil of imported illusion. Her flowers were white orchids and staphanotis, accented with English ivy, birdal illusion and seed pearls styled in a cascade. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Sister of the bridegroom, Miss Ann Carol Arnold of Fayetteville, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were: Mrs. Gary Fore, Magnolia; Mrs. Ronnie Burke, Nashville; and Mrs. John Henry Harrison, Hope. The bridesmaids were gowned identically in misty green peau de soie. Their dresses featured a fitted bodice, low round neckline, soft pleated skirt and self bow at the back waist. Green peau de soie matching veils. Cascades of yellow daisies fashioned their bouquets.

Brother of the bride, John Henry Harrison, was bestman. Groomsmen were Calvin Arnold of Memphis, Benjamin Arnold of Warren, and William Stephen Cummings of Waco, Texas. Guests were seated by Steve Holloway, Little Rock; W. A. Winston, Pine Bluff; Charles Alfred Culpepper, Helena; and James Oleney Nixon, Crossett.

The bride's mother wore a sheath of champagne linen with embroidered medallions banding the jacket. Her hat was in shades of green and champagne and her corsage was a cream colored cymbidium orchid. Mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Arnold, chose a gown of Dior blue with a bodice of lace ad a skirt of silk organza. A matching whimsey of Dior blue was worn in the hair and her corsage was a maize cymbidium trichid.

The Fellowship Hall of the church was used for the reception after the wedding. The bride's table was covered with floor length bouffant white net over satin. Silver candelabras held white tapers and a arrangement of white stock, candy tuft and white carnations. The silver punch bowl and a five tiered wedding cake were placed at each end of the table.

Floor length brown taffeta covered the bridegroom's table which was centered with an arrangement of yellow daisies.

Members of the houseparty included: Mrs. Richard Bricker, La Porte, Texas, and Mrs. Eugene Riley, North Little Rock, serving the bride's cake; Mrs. William Formby, Prescott, and Mrs. Carroll Wooverton, North Little Rock, pouring punch at the bride's table; Mrs. Marvin Wall, Star City, Ark., registering guests; Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Cottingham, Prescott, serving at the bridegroom's table; Mrs. Vuel Chamberlain, Prescott, who introduced wedding guests to the receiving line; Mrs. William Formby and Mrs. Delmar Tyree, both of Prescott, who assisted in the dining room; Miss Nan Faith Arnold of Hope, sister of the bridegroom, who distributed rice bags; and Miss Anna Gordon who provided the music for the reception.

The bride's travel ensemble included a navy knit suit trimmed with white and navy braid with matching navy accessories and the orchid form her bridal bouquet at her shoulder.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cummings, Hobbs, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Edie Mills, Durant, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Andrews, Midland, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wooverton, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cottingham, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Carrigan White, North Little Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bricker, La Porte, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wall, Star City, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Don Kauffman, Little Rock, Ark.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in North Little Rock where the bridegroom is a field representative for Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.

Co-op Plans a Tie-in at Prescott

WASHINGTON (AP)— A tie-line from Prescott, Ark., is needed to assure Louisiana rural electric co-operatives stand-by power from the Southwest Power Administration, a House Public Works appropriation subcommittee was told Monday.

If a commitment from the SPA to provide the power was not honored, the Louisiana Electric Co-operative, Inc., would be thwarted in its efforts to build generating and transmission facilities said Charles E. Roemer of Bossier Parish, board chairman.

Roemer said that private utilities have tied up in court approval of a $56 million loan from the Rural Electrification Administration to help finance construction of the facilities.

The co-operative group must have a firm commitment for 75,000 kilowatts of standby power from the SPA, Roemer said. This commitment could be honored either through a contract between SPA and private power companies or through construction of transmission lines to the Prescott area by the SPA, he added.

Warm, Sunny Is Weather in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warm, sunny weather greeted Arkansans this morning and the U.S. Weather Bureau said more of the same could be expected through Thursday.

The forecast called for clear to partly sky conditions through Thursday with temperatures climbing into the 80s Wednesday and tonight's minimum temperatures dropping into the 40s.

At Camden, where the Ouachita River remained about 13 feet above flood stage of 26 feet, police said the city was no longer under water as rain-swollen creeks returned to their banks.

Police said Arkansas 7 about one mile north of Camden at the Ouachita River bridge was still under water and impassable.

El Dorado was the only major reporting station with rain in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today. Three-hundredths of an inch of rain fell at El Dorado during that period.

Minimum temperatures overnight ranged from 39 degrees at Fayetteville to 49 degrees at Pine Bluff.

April rainfall totals included 18.5 inches at Hope and more than 15 inches at Texarkana. Reports indicate that the California condor is gradually becoming extinct. Only 40 now survive, compared with 60 in 1950.

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help US! This newspaper.

Especially For The Hopscotch Crowd

Dear Helen: You hardly never have much about us in your column. Please do! — The Hopscotchers (Kids Under 12)
Dear Hopscotchers: "Sorry, bouthat!" — and to show I really mean it, here's a whole column for the "Little" league. —H.

Dear Mrs. Bottel: I am not exactly skinny, but I'm not that fat. It makes me mad when my mother takes me shopping and they always bring us to the "chubby" dresses. Don't people that make clothes know we do not like to be called "chubby"? Why don't they get another name for them: I bet grown-ups would never buy clothes if they had to go to the "fat" rack. — Mary Jane

Dear Mary Jane: You are so right! There's no reason why clothes can't be labeled "X" or "Fuller-cut" for the "not-exactly skinny" crowd. Or... Suggestions, anyone? — H.

Dear Helen: I have always tried to say hello to Paul, but old as he is, he says girls are his enemies. One day this mean boy starts hitting me with his glove so I start socking him and he throws me on the floor. Then Paul starts hitting him and chases him away. But he still won't speak to me. Mrs. Helen, how can you talk to a boy if girls are his enemies? — Help-Less

Dear Helpless: Be a friendly enemy until time takes care of the problem. He'll be sitting on your doorstep with in a year. Wanta bet? — H.

Dear Mrs. B.: My family is happy and hardly ever fights. I thought everybody was until my friend invited me to spend the night. Her parents were fighting, the house was a mess and the kids didn't look to happy or clean.

While we were in bed my friend told me her folks were getting a divorce. I felt like crying because she was crying. I didn't know much about divorce until then and I think they are just terrible.

Ever since I've been especially nice to my friend, but she looks like a sad Beagel. Why don't they let the kids take part of saying something in the Divorcery Court? They should think how bad the children feel and maybe know how they want to run away or die or something and then maybe the Divorcery Court would go out of business. — Lucky, Sad And Mad.

P.S. I'm 11. Please correct my spelling. Thank you.

Dear Helen: I am 10. I have an older brother, 17, and everything I could want, but I have a problem. Anything that goes wrong, guess who gets blamed? If something is lost, or messed up, or goes out of whack, or if there's mud on the floor or fingerprints on doors — Everything — it's always me. Why? — Blamed

Dear Blamed: You're the youngest, honey, and therefore, the most likely suspect. So you are "guilty" until proven innocent. It isn't quite fair, but it happens in most families... as our 11-year-old Suzie can tell you.

(After reading your letter, I have decided to reform. Hope it has the same effect on your folks.) — H.

Dear Helen: There are six girls at school who are always gettin' aggy with each other, even if we run around together. We pair off, and talk about the rest, but we can't keep the same friend, even a week. It's 2 and two and two, and always feuds. What causes this? — Can't Keep A Friend

Dear Can't: To pair off and feud is part of growing up. The cause? Jealousy, unsureness, competition, immaturity, and the need to have one BEST friend. This "banty hen" stage wears off in high school. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

Bobcat Track Team Going to Camden Meet

By LARRY DON WRIGHT

The Hope Bobcat track teams will participate in the preliminaries of the Region 4AA Track and Field Meet tonight in Camden which will determine who will be eligible to enter the final of the meet on Saturday.

Coach Freddie Glaze has high hopes for both the Jr. and Sr. High Squads, and especially for senior sprinter Bobby Samuels who could be a serious threat for first places in the 100, 220, and 440-yard dashes.

The preliminaries tonight will decide which athletes will return for Saturday's competition for in order to make it to the finals a athlete must finish at least sixth in his event.

Samuels, an Honorable Mention All-District halfback in football, holds the school records in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes, breaking the mark in the former last week a tsmack-over with a winning time of 10.2 seconds. His record time of 23.1 in the 220 came earlier in the season.

Other strong performers include Sophomore hurdler Buzz Andrews and the Mile relay team. Andrews has cracked the school records in both hurdling events on several occasions this season.

The following are Hope's chief entries in the Jr. and Sr. High Division of the Region 4AA Preliminaries. There is a strong possibility that the Bobkittens, who have turned in outstanding showings all season will return to the meet on Saturday in several events.

Mays Still Seeking That Record

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays continues his quest for the elusive National League home run record tonight facing Los Angeles' Don Drysdale who's been tough for the San Francisco Giants' slugger.

In 10 years, Willie has just 12 homers off the Big Dodger right-hander and only one each year the past five seasons. Mays had none at all in 1960. Mays aims for a "lucky 13th" tonight and 512 career total. Going into this opener of a three-game series at Candlestick Park Drysdale would seem to have a psychological factor in his advantage since the pressure has been on Willie ever since he equaled Mel Ott's career record of 511 homers. Mays tied the equizer in Houston April 24.

Since then, Mays has only two hits in 16 times at bat, suffered an attack of the flu, a bruised hand and a bruised knee. Willie lost his left knee Sunday and had to leave the St. Louis game in the fourth inning but has told Manager Herman Franks he's back in the lineup.

Sonics Boom Out Hits and Beat Travs

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—The Amarillo Sonics boomed out five runs in the sixth inning Monday night and defeated Arkansas 5-3, dropping the Travelers from first to third place in Texas League baseball.

Arkansas had a 3-0 shutout going and starter Brian Sinnott had two men out in the sixth when the Sonics broke loose.

Leo Posada and Levi Brone hit back to back triples and Jim Todhunter followed with a home run. Leo Newton came in for the Travelers as relief pitcher and walked his first man, John Hoffman. Ed Moxey, moved in by the Sonics as a pinch hitter for starter Marv Dutt, hit another homer for the fourth and fifth runs of the inning.

Arkansas' scores came on a triple by Floyd Wicker and a double by Danny Breeden in the second; a homer by Art Deros in the fourth and three consecutive hits in the sixth.

The game was the first league meeting for the two teams. They play again tonight. It was also the only game played in the league Monday night.

Wrestler Is Idolized by Indian Screen
By B.S.V. RAO
BOMBAY, India (AP) — A 235-pound ex-wrestler is bounding across Indian movie screens in various stages of dress and undress toward a great pot of gold.

He is Dara Singh, who gave up head-knocking in the ring to play a bare-chested Tarzan, Samson, Hercules and all-round strong man in scores of Indian films.

Aside from drawing about 50 worshipful fan letters daily, Singh reportedly pulls down a minimum of $20,000 for each movie — a fabulous sum in India.

It's an especially attractive life for Singh, 36, who used to make a meager living grunting and growling with sweaty opponents in wrestling arenas from New York to Tokyo.

Singh is a 6-foot-2 Sikh. The Sikhs are a religious group famed for turning out big men who wear full beards and turbans. Many make the army their career.

Singh, however, turned to wrestling and won his first match as a teen-ager — and was paid the grand sum of four annas — about 5 U.S. cents.

Like all orthodox Sikh men, Singh wore a full beard and flowing hair.

A Singapore opponent, however, was annoyed at having to paw through all that hair so he refused to wrestle unless Singh shaved and trimmed.

It was his first haircut and Singh later remarked: "I felt quite awkward that day with my cranium all shining."

Filmdom was the next step. Many wrestlers get acting experience in the ring, and Singh said he wasn't camera shy at the start of his acting career.

Singh now is featured in Hindu mythologicals — sure hits in India.

Singh, who is married, complains other members of the film colony snub him as a "mere wrestler."

Whereupon, he buys another piece of land in his home state or maybe another Bombay apartment house. That apparently makes him feel better.

Abe's Hope Is Choice Now in Kentucky Race

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Five Kentucky Derby eligibles prepared for the mile of the $15,000-added Derby Trial today, the boys on the backstretch at Churchill Downs turned to the subject of naming horses.

Drawing particular attention were Abe's Hope, Kauai King, Stupendous and Amberoid, all of whom will be going in the Derby Saturday and each with a story behind his name.

There's a touch of sadness and memory in the name of Abe's Hope, 5-2 choice to win the 92nd running of the 1¼-mile classic for 3-year-olds. He was named for his 71-year-old Hungarian groom, Vele Bojinnoff, with the nickname of Abe.

As a yearling, the groom told trainer Del Carroll, "This horse is going to win the Kentucky Derby." So the Illinois-bred son of Better Bee was named Abe's Hope. Vele never got a chance to see if his prophecy would come true. He died last year of cancer.

Kauai King, the 7-2 second choice, came by his name through his ancestry and a trip owner Michael Ford and his family made to the island of Kauai in the Hawaiian group. Kauai King was sired by Native Dancer, whose father was Polynesian.

Amberoid, the 5-1 third choice in the line issued by Churchill Downs, can thank his sire, Count Amber, for his name. Trainer Lucien Laurin, looking at the Reginald Webster colt, remarked, "He sure looks like his sire." Hence, Amber, plus the latin "oid," which means like.

In searching for the reason for Stupendous name, one need go no farther than his sire, Bold Ruler, and take one look at his size. He is a big horse capable of handling himself in a crowded field. He showed that in bulling his way to victory in the recent Gotham at Aqueduct.

Of the five Derby candidates in today's Trial, Florida Derby winner Williamston Kid was named for Williamston, Mich., a suburb of Detroit where co-owner James Barrett resides.

Exhibitionist was one of the names sent into the registry by trainer Hirsch Jacobs and then assigned to the gray son of Promised Land.

Dominar is a lightly regarded Derby hopeful sired by Nashua while Clear Springs was bred in Spain and has raced only twice in his life — once in this country when he was beaten some 15 lengths in a six-furlong race.

And the field is rounded out by Duc de Eclair, which has shown early speed but isn't likely to start Saturday.

Robinson to Head New Grid League

NEW YORK (AP) — The fledgling Brooklyn Dodgers of the Continental Football League are looking for a fight — so they found a fighter to boss them.

They are tackling in metropolitan New York the entrenched Giants of the National Football League and the exciting Jets of the American Football League, but they have as their general manager Jackie Robinson, an outspoken Negro leader in civil rights and famed for never giving an inch during his brilliant baseball career with the old Brooklyn Dodgers.

"We are not kidding ourselves as to our problems," Jackie told a press conference Monday when his appointment was announced.

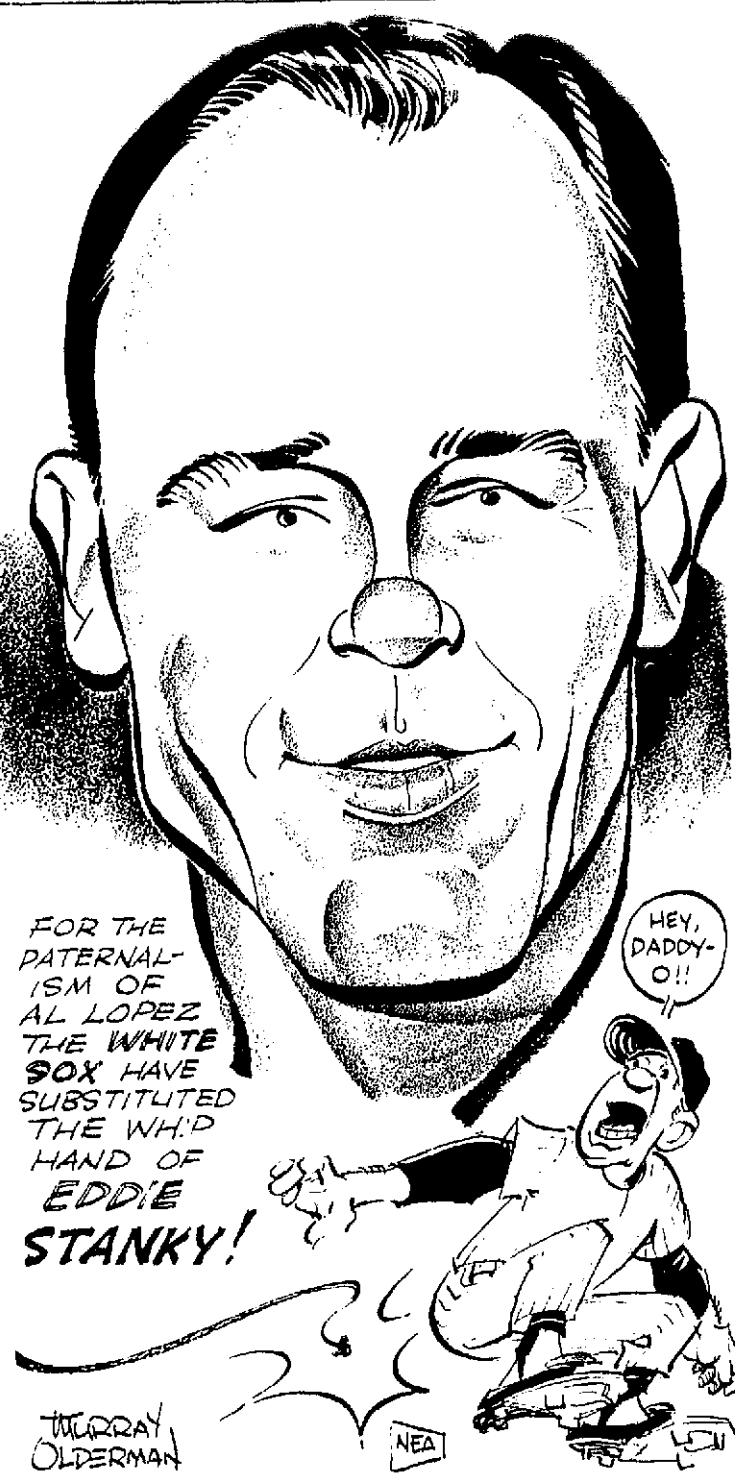

The Dodgers will be competing for the entertainment dollar against the Giants, assured of a sellout in 67,000-capacity Yankee Stadium and the Jets, who expect to go into their opener in Shea Stadium with an advance sale of 50,000 tickets against a capacity of 60,000.

And the Dodgers have yet to find a coach or a stadium or recruit a team. In fact, they received their franchise only last Saturday.

Nat'l Loop to Fight to Keep Atlanta Braves

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The National League has picked up a symbolic torch in its battle to keep the Braves in Atlanta and instructed league attorneys to carry the flame all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

The torch was picked up by National League President Warren Giles, and the league's strategy in the case revealed by league attorneys L. O. Carroll and Bowie Kuhn after a two-hour meeting of the 10 club owners Monday.

Giles said the league will appeal all the way to U. S. Supreme Court if it has to — the first time the NL has flatly stated it intends carrying the case that far — and reiterated that expansion into Milwaukee could not be considered until all appeals had been decided.

"We are carrying the torch for all team sports — pro football, pro basketball and pro hockey — in this fight," Giles said, apparently referring to the antitrust facets of the case.

Giles' statement was part of the league's answer to the decision handed down last month by Circuit Court Judge Elmer roller, who ruled the Braves violated state antitrust statutes in moving the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

Judge roller, at the same time, ordered the Braves returned to Milwaukee by May 18 unless the National League made plans by May 16 to include a Milwaukee franchise by 1967. It is this decision that the National League first will appeal to the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

Asked what would be the next step if the Wisconsin Supreme Court turned down the appeal, Carroll said:

"Then we would seek to go to the U.S. Supreme Court."

Penalty Role Interesting in Playoff

By BERNIE KENNEDY

Associated Press Sports Writer
MONTREAL (AP) — One of the more interesting sidelights of the Stanley Cup finals between the Detroit Red Wings and the Montreal Canadiens has been the dominant roles played by the respective penalty-killing combinations.

The teams have managed to score only four goals in 30 power play opportunities while playing to a standoff after four games of the best-of-seven series. The fifth game is set for tonight.

The Red Wings, who scored 10 times with the man advantage in 24 chances against Chicago in the six-game semifinals, has clicked but once in 12 tries against the Canadiens.

Andy Bathgate, who scored five power play goals against the Black awks, has picked up the only one against Montreal and continues to lead all scorers with six goals.

The Canadiens, too, have had little luck while playing with the extra man. They've scored three times in 18 chances against Detroit after eliminating Toronto in four games with the help of seven power play goals in 20 attempts.

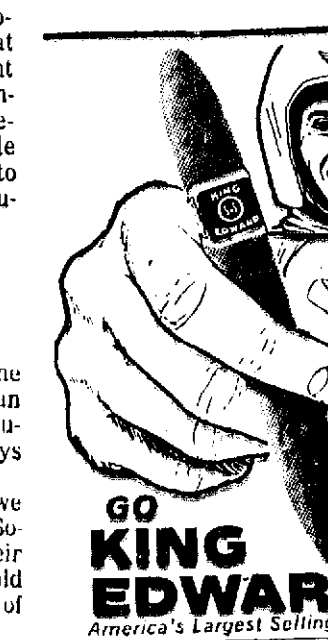

Each team scored one goal while playing short-handed but neither — thanks to brilliant goaltending by Detroit's Roger Crozier and Montreal's Gump Worsley — has been able to cash in the finals.

Wife Sent as Substitute
NEW YORK (AP) — New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay sent in his wife as a substitute for himself Sunday in a softball game against a press-corps team called "The Power Brokers."

"Here, you should have Mary on the team, she's the best player around," Lindsay said.

But she went hitless as he had before her — both grounding out weakly to the infield.

Despite their showing, however, the "Lindsay Lancers" squeezed out a 10-9 victory.

Mrs. Rose Kennedy at Groundbreaking

NEW YORK (AP) — Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy, mother of the late president, took part Sunday in groundbreaking ceremonies for a center for mental retardation and human development named in her honor.

The site of the 10-story center is adjacent to the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York's Bronx.

Mrs. Kennedy, 75, said that as a mother of a mentally retarded child she was thinking "of the millions of children who will come here in future years filled with high hopes and great expectations."

She was accompanied by her husband, John F. Kennedy, and their children, including President John F. Kennedy Jr.

The center is to be built on a site of 10 acres in the Bronx, near the site of the late president's birthplace.

'Why Settle for Queens When You Can Get Los Angeles?'

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LOS ANGELES—(NEA)—Walter O'Malley has been called baseball's biggest carpe diem. He wasn't the original. Lou Perini, who first moved the Boston Braves to Milwaukee, earns that distinction.

But Walter was the first man who moved a presumably successful franchise from Brooklyn to Los Angeles.

I asked him if, in view of the later success of the Mets with the return of the National League to New York, he didn't have some regrets.

"If I were going to move a ball club to Queens," he answered, "I might as well move it across the country."

"I think the move to Los Angeles has been justified by the results. In all the years we were in Brooklyn we won only one world's championship. That's when I was president of the club. We've won three in Los Angeles since then. That's what we're in business for—to win world championships and pennants."

Did the climate make the difference?
"I doubt if the climate had anything to do with it. We play half our games away from home."

You used that horrid word, "business."
"I don't think there's any doubt about baseball being a business. We've never said it isn't. A number of commentators and newspaper men misunderstand the situation. The only thing that's protected in baseball has been the reserve clause and the territorial franchise right. And that's under the United States Supreme Court decision (of 1922). In later years, when many attacks were made, the court indicated that if there was to be a change, it was up to Congress to make the change. And Congress hasn't done that as yet.

'WHEN THEY WANT ME, THEY CALL ON ME'

"Baseball is a business insofar as radio, television, concession sales, ticket sales and business practices. On the player end of it and territorial rights, it's been ruled not subject to the antitrust laws."

You were a successful lawyer, right, before you got into baseball?

"I hope that is recognized by more people than just you. I had some pretty good clients who paid pretty good fees. I had done my work in the legal profession for 25 years and thought I was entitled to take it a little bit easy. I'm working just as hard, though, perhaps harder, in baseball, but I certainly am enjoying it tremendously." (Walter pronounces it "tremendously.")

Do you get more satisfaction out of baseball than law?

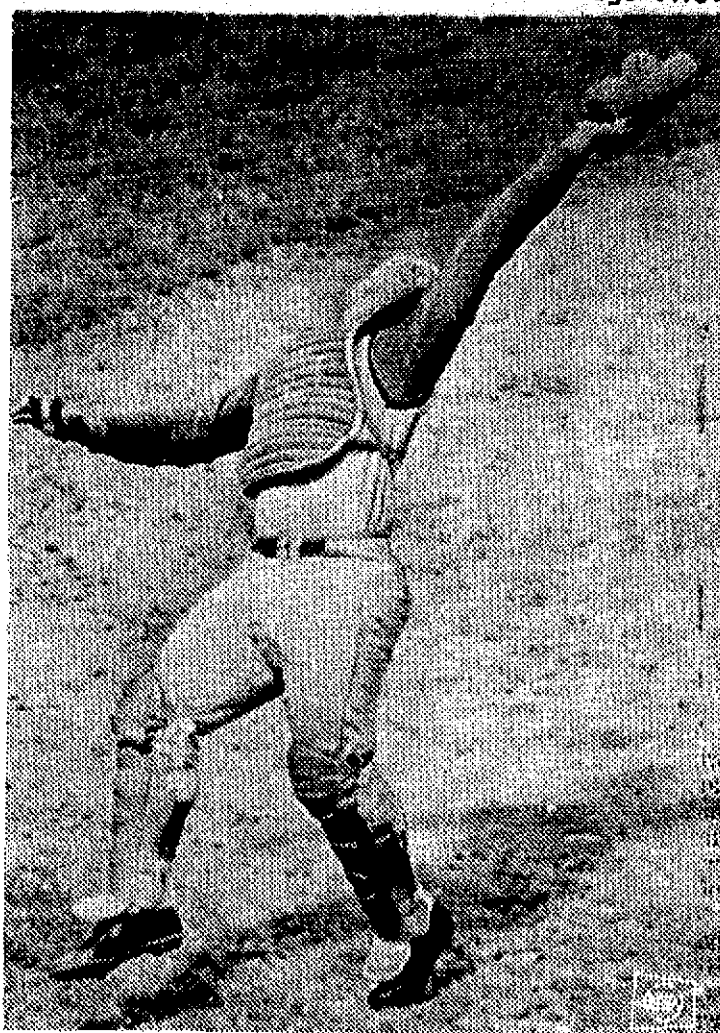

"It's relative. You get great satisfaction out of winning an important case for which you knew you would be well-compensated. Your greatest satisfaction in baseball comes from winning ball games, winning pennants and winning World Series. While I don't expect too many people to take this for gospel, I feel, and so do many baseball people, you would rather win a pennant and a world championship than to make some money doing it."

But aren't you in baseball because it is a business?

"Partly. Yes, I like it. And I think you should be working at things you like. I reached the point where I was more interested in baseball than I was in spending a great deal of time in court. I get a great deal of pleasure out of baseball. My hobby is baseball. My recreation is baseball. I'm glad there are so many millions of people who apparently like baseball as much as I do."

The trouble is, as some fellows like Charles O. Finley of Kansas City might argue, most of those millions of people happen to live in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

Where they can patronize and be patronized by the Los Angeles Dodgers and Walter F. O'Malley.

HIGH FLYER—Cincinnati catcher Don Pavletich had a tough time with this foul ball, but despite the strong wind he managed to catch it—in high style, too.

'Tennis Rebel' Pursues His Cause

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"tired of amateur bit . . ."

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Tennis club cocktail parties are very polite affairs where gentlemen of fashion communicate with women of fashion about Roy Emerson's backhand, Dennis Ralston's temper and George Gallup's latest poll on the divorce rate in suburbia.

It is all very proper and quiet, of course, until a young Welshman named Mike Davies arrives—if and when he is invited.

Then Mike Davies begins to preach his pagan philosophy of tennis, and all the gentlemen smile wanly while making mental notes not to invite HIM again.

Padwe

And Mike Davies just laughs. He's been laughing a long time now, ever since he wrote a book called "Tennis Rebel."

Mike Davies is a pro now, the most outspoken member of that select group which barnstorms all over the world searching for an identity.

"Our problem is getting new people," Davies said. "But how are we going to do that when the amateur players make more than we do?"

"At the moment, the premise in tennis is all wrong. You can't have a healthy sport on a bad foundation."

"Any amateur official who says he doesn't know what is going on is talking out of his hat."

Last year, Davies played only four months and made $9,000 on the tour, a minute sum, he says, compared to what Emerson makes.

"Sure, he makes more than I do," Davies said. "That's not hard to figure. In many of the places the pros go, the promoters have a limited amount of money, so they only want the top four like Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall, Pancho Gonzales and Andres Gimeno or Butch Buchholz. They don't want Mike Davies."

"I'm restricted to playing the bigger tournaments (there aren't many) and have to make my money doing that. But Emerson . . . well, he turned down a $100,000 contract to turn pro. How can you do that unless you're equaling it or making more?"

"There are so many ways the amateurs can make money. They get guarantees, they have daily expense money, they get jobs in public relations for which they do nothing."

"Who gets the equipment endorsements? The amateurs."

"In what other sport do the amateurs dominate the news more than the pros? We're the best tennis players in the world, but I'd estimate the proportion of tennis news at 80 per cent amateur and 20 per cent professional.

"Because they're getting their names mentioned more and their pictures taken more, the tennis racket and tennis shoe companies go to them for the endorsements."

"The tennis associations, especially in Europe, also have been known to give players money to remain amateur. The Spanish Davis Cuppers even got bonuses for winning their matches."

"I'd like to see some of these players turn pro. Because the more pros, the sooner we may get to Open tennis."

"In a way, these amateurs owe it to themselves because unless they've competed against the best they'll never be sure in their minds how good they might have been."

"That's why I turned pro. I wanted to see how good I was and I was tired of the amateur bit."

Mike Davies is unique. He took a salary cut for the sake of a principle.

For Golf Headache Relief, Player Prescribes 'R & R'

NEW YORK—(NEA)—There is nothing wrong with Gary Player's golf game that a couple of weeks of R and R won't cure.

"Rest and relaxation," Player said. "Every golfer on the tour takes it some time during the season. It's something like leaving the battle lines for awhile to regroup forces."

He will rejoin the tour after a stop in London and then a two-week stay in his native South Africa.

"My game is all right," he said, "even though I haven't finished way up in the money so far this year."

"It's more like I am taking a breather from the pressure to freshen up my mental approach. It's happened before. I'll be O.K."

A smile came over Player's tanned face. He shook his head and began to laugh.

"Pressure," he said. "In golf it's a fantastic thing. It's the greatest part of tournament golf and then again it's the worst."

"I can laugh about pressure now but, believe me, there are days in this business when it is no laughing matter."

"In the Masters I watched Ben Hogan walk up to a three-foot putt on the first hole. His hands were shaking so that he could barely hold his putter."

This is a project which is desirable but deferrable.
—Vice President Humphrey, on the $750,000 home authorized for vice presidents.

"It was sad to see that happen," Player said. "Hogan has faced every kind of pressure imaginable and he's shaking over a three-foot putt on the first hole of the Masters."

Player recalled the final round of the 1965 National Open, which he won the following day in a playoff with Australia's Kel Nagle.

"I had a three-stroke lead on the back nine. I missed a three-footer for a double-bogey while Kel was making a long one for a birdie. I won't say I choked up but I certainly felt the pressure."

Films of Player's double-bogey hole show him coming off the green holding his throat.

"Isn't it amazing," he said, "that a damn little golf ball can do that to you?"

"But I'm not ashamed to say it. I put tremendous faith in life, and this is how I try to face the pressure. It works, most of the time, because so far I've done pretty well in this game."

"Other players? Well, each man learns to face it in his own way. Arnold Palmer seems to flaunt it or challenge it. Jack Nicklaus seems to overcome it with as intense a concentration as I've ever seen."

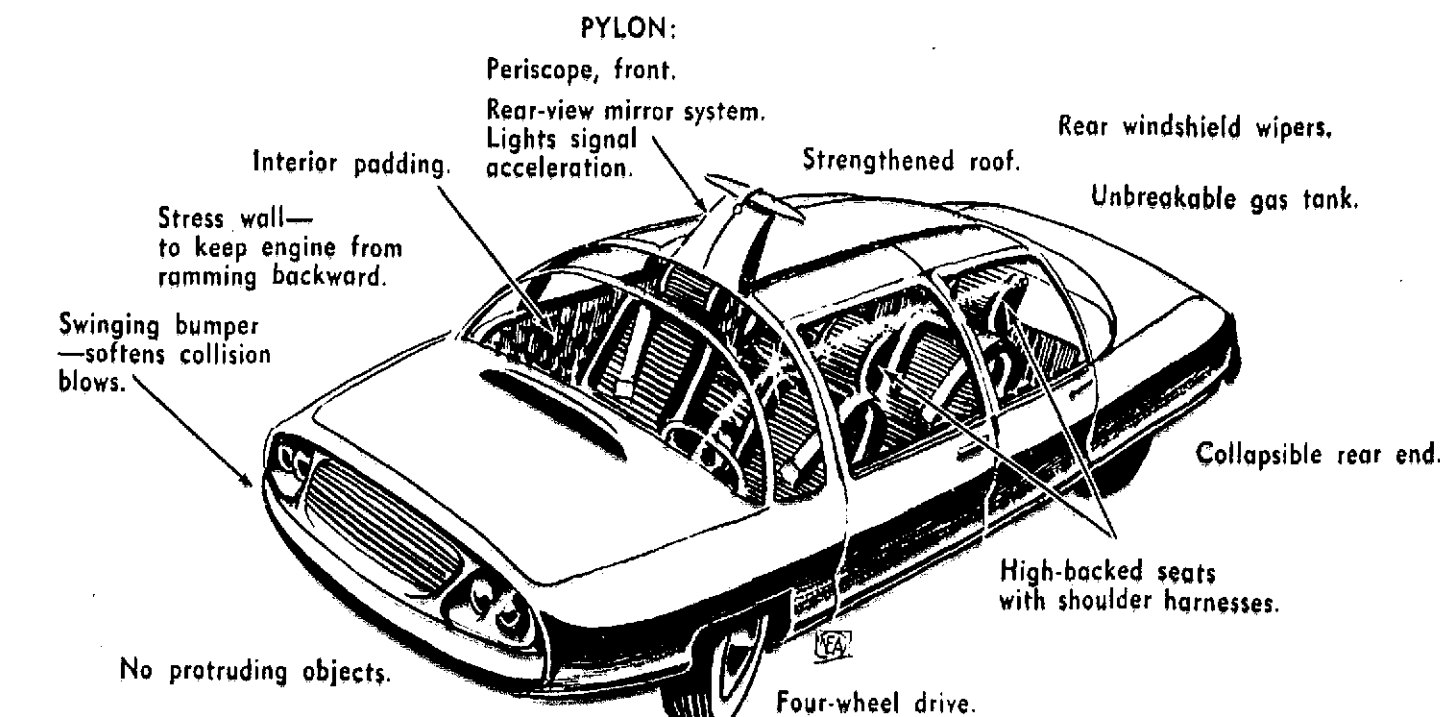

Player began laughing again.

"Funny how you get so wrapped up in golf and the pressure that you become almost oblivious to everything else."

"Somebody will ask, 'How's your wife?' and you'll answer, 'She's seven over par.'"

Its potential is to decrease accident deaths and injuries a minimum 50 per cent.

Cubs Cheer Lip's Return

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—When Leo Durocher was hired to manage the Chicago Cubs, somebody asked Buzzy Bavasi why nobody had hired The Lip until now.

Durocher's friends kept saying he was willing to go back into the game. Since 1955, when Durocher left the Giants, there were dozens of managerial openings, including four new franchises in the expansion.

"Well," said Bavasi, the Dodgers' general manager, "I know Leo did have a couple of feelers, but after a few years away from the game I think maybe owners, felt baseball was getting too modern for him. It was passing him by."

Told of Bavasi's remarks, Leo snarled, "The hell baseball has passed me by! They still play it with a bat and a ball, don't they?"

Leo Durocher, in all his bilabial glory, is back.

"When I was managing, I never took a tactical back seat to anybody," Leo said. "And don't forget I stayed close to the game as a broadcaster. And has Bavasi forgotten I coached the Dodgers for three years (1961-64)?"

"No," Bavasi said, "what I mean is that Leo's "bark and bite" method of managing might not be effective in today's game. It was effective 15 years ago, maybe, but there was a different breed of player then."

"With us," Bavasi went on, "the players didn't know quite what to make of Leo. He would shout, 'Loosen up on your girdle, Alice,' or, 'Never mind the TV cameras, Gertrude,' and they'd get mad."

Cubs owner Phil Wrigley, admitting his experiment with a 10-man college of coaches failed, now thinks this is exactly what the Cubs need—to get mad.

So do the players themselves.

"Leo will pick up our club collectively and stimulate us individually," said third baseman Ron Santo. "I think all the players feel the same."

"It isn't just Durocher as the manager but the general atmosphere he will create. Getting Leo is like adding a 330 hitter and a 20-game winner at the same time," said Santo. "I can't wait to get started."

Even before Durocher donned Cubs' flannels for the opening of spring training, he laid down the challenge to the entire organization.

"I am the manager," Durocher told them. "I am capable of kicking you in the rump as well as patting you on the back. This year we go for the first division and next year we take it from there."

Bland Diet Recommended For Mucous Colitis Victims

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—There is a lot of phlegm in my stools and I have a slight but constant cramping in my abdomen. X-rays of my intestines failed to show anything wrong. Does this indicate that further tests should be made or do I have something that laxatives will control?

A—Without further tests I would say you have described the typical findings of mucous colitis. Laxatives would make it worse. There are many remedies for this condition but none of them will help you unless you adhere to a bland (no roughage) diet and arrange to eliminate emotional stresses.

depend on the severity of the disease and the skill of your physician.

Q—When I was in high school a doctor prescribed amphetamine to help me lose weight. Now I am addicted to this drug. What should I do?

A—This drug, marketed as Benzedrine, Dexedrine and Methedrine can be obtained legally only on a doctor's prescription. It is potentially dangerous and is definitely habit-forming when taken over a long period. Discontinuing the drug after the habit has been formed may require a short period of hospitalization.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Congress Has Plan To Create 'Leisure Class' of Loafers

Unemployment payments in the United States total about $6.3 billion a year. In Texas, the figure is around $60 million (the highest on record is $69 million). Revision upward of current plans is embodied in HR 8282 and SB 1991 in the U.S. Congress.

Under the revision, Texas employers will be taxed an added $50 million by 1967, $80 million by 1970 and $100 million by 1975. This would guarantee a jobless person of an average of around $70 a week. One of the worst features of the proposals is that states with solvent programs (Texas is one) would be taxed to pay for insolvent ones in other states. For example, the bills would require benefits in Texas of more than $200 million before the "equalizing" federal funds could be used to help meet our load of joblessness.

Another bad feature is that reforms to eliminate "jobless" status of pensioners, vacationers and loafers would be excessively difficult if not impossible. Texas has checks by which jobless benefits can be denied persons who decline appropriate employment. Texas' unemployment system encourages employers to retain their workers. Some states require jobless pay to workers who leave their jobs for any cause except criminal acts. This sometimes includes workers dismissed for misconduct. Some plans include seasonal workers, such as summer jobs for students. Christmas jobs for housewives, and even part-time work and leave it.

The federal government's aim — in these bills — is to create a massive welfare program out of joblessness without redeeming features that separate the loafers from those genuinely affected by forces beyond their control in a complex modern economy. The Congress should examine the plans of states like Texas, Pennsylvania and others before embarking upon a program that would, in many cases, create a new "leisure" class of loafers. — San Antonio Express & News

News Strike Talks Go to City Hall

New York (AP) — Leaders of 10 newspaper unions journey to City Hall today to explore with Mayor John V. Lindsay ways of ending a nine-day strike against the yet-to-be-published papers of the World Journal Tribune Corp.

The mayor, who summoned them, was expected to try to get the unionists to warm up to his idea for a fact-finding panel. Lindsay has proposed that a three-member panel—one member each appointed by the unions, the publishers and himself—review the dispute and recommend a settlement.

The World Journal Tribune, created by the merger of three dailies here, accepted the mayor's proposal. The unions have been cool to it.

Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the only union striking the World Journal Tribune — the AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild — expressed doubt any gains would result from the City Hall session. He asserted that "the fact-finding kick" was a "joint program of the mayor and publishers."

RFK Asks U.S. Change Policy Toward China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called today for a sweeping reassessment of U.S. policy toward Red China and urged President Johnson to appoint a special commission to recommend new approaches.

He said the commission could be headed "by a national leader of the caliber and credentials" of retired Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who commanded allied forces in Korea; retired Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, former American Red Cross president; or Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, Johns Hopkins University president and a brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Unrest Cut Military Operations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says South Vietnamese military operations by more than half and prompted administration fears of civil war and the overthrow of the government in Saigon.

McNamara made the disclosures as he fielded questions from the floor of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention Monday.

"The tempo of military operations was adversely affected by the political disorders," McNamara said. He estimated operations against the Viet Cong were reduced 50 to 70 per cent.

But he said the administration had feared more severe effects. "We were afraid of a civil war, we were afraid of the separation of the entire northern part of the country, and of the overthrow of the government," he said.

McNamara also acknowledged that despite the bombing of North Viet Nam the number of Communist infiltrators is three times above the level of a year ago.

Primaries in 6 States Are Eyed Closely

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Primary elections in six states today begin drawing the Democratic-Republican lineups for the fall election, and — in Alabama — test the increased Negro ballot box power since enactment of the 1965 voting rights law.

Florida, Indiana, New Mexico, Ohio and Oklahoma are also holding primaries.

But there is no contest elsewhere to compete for national attention with the big one in Alabama.

There, against a background of increased Negro registration, Gov. George C. Wallace, long a symbol of race segregation, hoped to get his wife named as the Democratic nominee to succeed him. He is barred from re-election by the state constitution.

Nine candidates are competing with 39-year-old Mrs. Lurleen Wallace for the nomination. One, Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, openly bid for the Negro vote and in advance of the balloting appeared to have it pretty solidly.

The other candidates in the big field include state Sen. Bob Gilchrist, ex-Congressman Carl Elliott, former Govs. John Patterson and James Folsom; Eunice I. Gore, state Agriculture Commissioner A. W. Todd and Charles Woods.

Mrs. Wallace is expected to lead the primary field but there were doubts she could get a majority. If no candidate gets a majority, there will be a runoff May 31.

Federal examiners went into Alabama earlier under the voting rights law and certified as voters thousands of Negroes who claimed they had been denied their voting rights. Federal agents also were assigned to watch the polls today in seven counties.

The present eligible Negro vote is estimated at 235,000, about double that of two years ago, and roughly 20 per cent of the present electorate.

Many notes were read from teachers and former students who couldn't be present, and each one at the reunion recalled something amusing that had occurred during the time of high school. Dorothy McRae (Mrs. Bill Duckett) & Justine Moore (Mrs. Janet Hamn) played a piano duet of "School Days" while all sang it. Clever souvenirs of the occasion marked each place.

When distance was figured, Jone Russell (Mrs. Garth Alridge) of Jacksonville, Fla., had come farthest. Others from out-of-town included: Mr. and Mrs. Dess Shannon, San Antonio, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Routon, Baton Rouge, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Steward, San Angelo, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Oral Reeves, Long Beach, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hutson, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lucas, Magnolia; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hart, Alexandria, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCrary, Lenoire; Mrs. Mary Billingsly McGill and Mrs. Fris Hill, El Dorado.

Housing Section of Rights Bill Is Doomed

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has its first skirmish today over President Johnson's new civil rights bill, with its fair housing section apparently already doomed.

What sounded like a fatal blow to a provision banning racial or religious discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing was struck by Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

He called this part of the bill "absolutely unconstitutional" and said that if this is retained, he could not support any move to break a filibuster against the legislation.

"If you can tell me what interstate commerce is involved in selling or renting a house fixed to the soil, or where there is federal jurisdiction, I'll go out and eat the chimney off the house," Dirksen said.

Both Dirksen and Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said they would oppose any move to fix a deadline for action on the bill by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., reserved the right to make such a move when the bill was introduced in the Senate last Thursday.

Reunion Turns Time Back to 1922

Time was turned back to 1922 when the Hope High graduating class of that year assembled for a reunion at the Hope Country Club on Saturday, April 30.

Open House was held in the afternoon with about 50 friends calling despite a deluge of rain. The clubhouse was lovely with red and white floral arrangements throughout.

Dinner was served that evening, and the speaker's table held an arrangement of red carnations and white Dutch irises with white candles in wrought iron being used on the other portions of the U-shaped table. Lyle Moore was Master of Ceremonies for the evening, and covers were laid for 40.

The invocation was offered by Miss Edna Middlebrooks of Little Rock, and Miss Berly Henry of Benton made a short talk. Both are former teachers of the assembled group.

Much reminiscence brought many laughs to the former classmates. A group of the girls in the class now living in Hope wore middie blouses and navy ties and created quite a note of interest.

Many notes were read from teachers and former students who couldn't be present, and each one at the reunion recalled something amusing that had occurred during the time of high school. Dorothy McRae (Mrs. Bill Duckett) & Justine Moore (Mrs. Janet Hamn) played a piano duet of "School Days" while all sang it. Clever souvenirs of the occasion marked each place.

U.S. Admits Shelling Reds in Cambodia

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. command for the first time today officially acknowledged shelling into Cambodia.

A spokesman said American artillerymen unleashed a heavy artillery barrage Saturday to silence "very heavy" automatic weapons and mortar fire from across the border.

The Viet Cong was firing on a battalion of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, which was making a sweep on the South Vietnamese side of the Cal Bac River, the spokesman said.

The artillery duel took place in Tay Ninh Province about 75 miles northwest of Saigon. This border sector has been the scene of the 1st Division's Operation Birmingham for the past nine days. During the drive, American troops seized the biggest cache of Viet Cong supplies of the war.

The area has been pounded repeatedly in recent days by B52 bombers from Guam. They unloaded their 750-pound bombs there again today.

American planes flew 305 combat sorties over South Viet Nam Monday, while the three-week lull in ground fighting persisted.

There have been repeated unofficial reports of U.S. troops firing into Cambodia, but the disclosure today was the first official acknowledgment.

The spokesman said the decision to shell the Viet Cong across the frontier was made by the battalion commander on the spot.

Field commanders are authorized to take any means at their disposal to protect their troops, the spokesman said. The area shelled contained no villages and the nearest settlement was about five miles away, he added.

Chrysler Calls Back 182,000

DETROIT (AP) — The Chrysler Corp. has called in 182,000 vehicles for repairs because of possible faulty installation of a front suspension system of some 1966 Dodge and Plymouth automobiles.

A company spokesman said Monday the firms know of two cases in which two nuts came off a control arm strut to the front suspension system and 30 other cases where the nuts were found to be loose.

Chrysler officials said the loose nuts were discovered on Dodge Coronets and Chargers and Plymouth Belvederes and Satellites built at Detroit and Los Angeles.

Bennett Says GIs Must Sign at Home

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said today he is reluctantly having to advise Arkansas living overseas and in other states that they cannot register to vote in Arkansas without coming here.

"There are many hundreds of fine Arkansas men and women with their legal domicile in Arkansas who are temporarily out of the state and cannot register and vote here even though they are citizens," Bennett said.

"This dilemma was caused by the failure of the individuals who drafted the voter registration law to provide a method for absentee registration," he said.

Ky Indicates Election May Be Delayed

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
QUANG NGAI, Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky indicated today that the crucial general elections may be postponed.

"We will try to hold the elections by October," he said in an interview at the airbase here.

His original pledge in the face of Buddhist unrest a month ago was to have the vote "within three to five months," indicating September at the latest.

On the elections hinges Viet Nam's political future. The Ky government pledged them in the face of increasing demands for a civilian regime.

Ky made an unscheduled flight to this northern province to have a look at war-battered villages wrecked recently from Viet Cong control.

He made his tour in a U.S. Marine helicopter. Heavily armed troops deployed and a plane constantly flew over as the head of the military junta stepped over the scars of Viet Nam's fighting and tragedy.

He was greeted by silent crowds of men and women gathered near shell-smashed homes surrounded by fired sprayed by crop-killing chemicals.

"Pacification is progressing," Ky said. "In this area alone, 2,000 Viet Cong were killed in the past two months. This is great progress."

The premier said that pacification must "be carried effectively throughout the country" to permit the vote.

"We will try to hold the elections by October. If we are strong and determined, we can do it."

Quachita Drive to Get $440,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor Monday allocated $440,000 in federal funds for work on the Skyline Drive scenic tour road in Ouachita National Forest.

Archie K. Davis of Winston-Salem, N.C., head of the bankers' group, won a warm round of applause when he made his suggestion Monday at the national convention of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

"It is up to the federal government under the leadership of the President to curtail its own spending plans in the ebasic thrust of the inflation is to be broken," Davis said.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was applauded less enthusiastically when he warned that climbing prices and profits can generate "a speculative boom that will bring on a bust."

He called for sterner restraint, including price cuts where possible.

The problem of inflation, and the possibility that it might compel President Johnson to seek an increase in individual and corporation income taxes, dominated program events at the 54th annual meeting attended by 4,500 chamber delegates and guests.

James H. Pilkinton, Hope attorney and candidate for Lt. Gov. of Arkansas and Mrs. Pilkinton have completed a week's tour of northern Arkansas.

Monday he was a guest of the Washington Co. Bar Association at Fayetteville at a noon luncheon. Other cities visited included Rogers, Springdale, Bentonville and Bella Vista. In Fayetteville the Pilkintons visited their daughter, Tena Louise, a University student. Sunday, May 1 Mr. Pilkinton was guest of the Pulaski County Bar Association at its annual Law Day picnic in Little Rock.

Johnson Has Hopes for a United Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, although faced with new divisions within the Atlantic alliance, said today he still has "great hopes" for a free, united Europe. And he outlined his own blueprint for the continent's future.

Johnson discussed the European outlook at length in an address at a White House ceremony marking the 100th anniversary of Polish nationhood.

Looking toward Eastern Europe, he pointed to signs that rigid Communist theory is losing its hold on national economies. And he announced he is instructing Secretary of State Dean Rusk to send Congress long promised legislation that would authorize the President to remove special tariff restrictions that curb trade between Eastern Europe and the United States.

Bankers Plea for a Cut in Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President of the American Bankers Association has countered a White House plea for price restraint with an appeal to the federal government to cut its domestic spending.
